PASTORS PONDERINGS

Dear Parishioners,

Near the end of the summer, this time of greater rest and relaxation, we are confronted with the question that Jesus asks his closest disciples: "Who do you say that I am?"

Hearing these words, we are challenged to answer in the way that the future St. Peter does: "You are the Christ (the Anointed One), the Son of the living God." Further, we are challenged, as declared Disciples of Christ, to reflect on what this response means and how we are to then respond by our lives to this declaration.

The Church challenged in many ways during these past years has responded with a campaign to call us all to come together in front of the Eucharist to by this coming together to reaffirm our commitment to follow Christ in our lives.

The hope is then that this action will challenge us to continue to express our commitment to Christ in our lives after we leave. It makes no sense to declare ourselves Disciples of Christ and then spend a good deal of time finding ways to look away or even step over the people we encounter in need. We're asked to see Christ in the people we encounter in need as well.

Still the Eucharist is not merely or even primarily a challenge. It is nourishment, which we can get even from a far – focusing on it, praying over it, slowly encountering its disarming quality to lay down our frustrations and our anger and to see in its circular form the ability to melt boundaries as well as our hearts, and to see again Christ even in those who at times really annoy us.

Yes, Jesus is the Son of the Living God, he is the Anointed One for us all, both a challenge but also a gift allowing us melt away our anger, frustrations, and fears to reach out to those who may really only need a smile of encouragement that we recognize them as human, brothers or sisters, as are we.

May God continue to bless us all.

-- Fr. Dennis

PENSAMIENTOS DE NUESTRO PARROCO

Estimados feligreses,

Cerca del final del verano, este tiempo de mayor descanso y relajación, nos enfrentamos a la pregunta que Jesús hace a sus discípulos más cercanos: "¿Quién decís que soy yo?"

Al oír estas palabras, se nos desafía a responder del mismo modo que lo hace el futuro San Pedro: "Tú eres el Cristo (el Ungido), el Hijo de Dios vivo." Además, se nos desafía, como Discípulos declarados de Cristo, a reflexionar sobre lo que significa esta respuesta y cómo hemos de responder después con nuestra vida a esta declaración.

La Iglesia, desafiada de muchas maneras durante estos últimos años, ha respondido con una campaña para llamarnos a todos a reunirnos ante la Eucaristía para, mediante esta reunión, reafirmar nuestro compromiso de seguir a Cristo en nuestras vidas.

La esperanza es entonces que esta acción nos desafíe a continuar expresando nuestro compromiso con Cristo en nuestras vidas después de nuestra partida. No tiene sentido declararnos Discípulos de Cristo y luego pasar mucho tiempo buscando formas de mirar hacia otro lado o incluso de pasar por encima de las personas que encontramos necesitadas. Se nos pide que veamos a Cristo también en las personas que encontramos necesitadas.

Sin embargo, la Eucaristía no es sólo, ni siquiera principalmente, un desafío. Es un alimento, que podemos obtener incluso desde lejos - concentrándonos en ella, rezando sobre ella, descubriendo poco a poco su cualidad desarmante para deponer nuestras frustraciones y nuestra ira y ver en su forma circular la capacidad de derretir las fronteras, así como nuestros corazones, y volver a ver a Cristo incluso en aquellos que a veces realmente nos molestan.

Sí, Jesús es el Hijo del Dios vivo, es el Ungido para todos nosotros, un reto pero también un regalo que nos permite derretir nuestra ira, frustraciones y miedos para llegar a aquellos que realmente sólo necesitan una sonrisa de aliento para que les reconozcamos como humanos, hermanos o hermanas, como lo somos nosotros.

Que Dios siga bendiciéndonos a todos.

-- P. Dennis
