PASTORS PONDERINGS

Dear Parishioners,

We are in the harder part of Ordinary Time, when the Readings get a bite to them.

In the Summer the Readings are softer, and as in this year, grander – this year's cycle gave us an opportunity to reflect over as many as five Sundays on the Eucharist through John's Bread of Life Discourse, and the Multiplication of the Loaves which set it up.

Now as we enter the Fall, the Readings become more pointed, at times they hurt. At times we may wonder why the Church puts these Readings into our Liturgy at all. Yet they are there, and we have to believe for a purpose: to help us grow as human beings in our faith.

And so this week, the Readings are about incomprehension.

The First Reading, in classing Old Testament style, is unsparing describing the wicked as coming together to hurt the Just One.

The Gospel Reading is softer, but arguably no less disappointing: Walking back to Capernaum, at the end of a day, Jesus arguably bares his soul, telling his apostles that this was exactly going to happen to him, that he's going to be arrested by men, sentenced, put to death (but on the third day rise from the dead).

And yet the Apostles don't seem to hear him at all. Instead, they seem to have been arguing among themselves who's going to be the most important of them all.

How many times have we tried to tell others, even loved ones, the things that are weighing down on our souls, and find ... nothing. It's not even that they are "bad people." It's just that they don't get it, that they are elsewhere with their concerns.

Jesus does lighten the mood, bringing before them a child, and tells them that the child is more than they are. And again, they probably didn't get it either.

However, in this is the good news that God really does love us all and our search for "importance" doesn't really matter to God.

But we may want to take some time this week to listen more closely to God and the people around us. Because if we don't we may be missing quite important things we need to hear.

-- Fr. Dennis

PENSAMIENTOS DE NUESTRO PARROCO

Queridos Feligreses:

Estamos en la parte más difícil del Tiempo Ordinario, cuando las lecturas son más duras.

En verano las lecturas son más suaves y, como en este año, más grandiosas: el ciclo de este año nos dio la oportunidad de reflexionar por cinco domingos sobre la Eucaristía por el discurso del Evangelio de San Juan sobre el Pan de Vida y la Multiplicación de los Panes que lo presidió.

Ahora, al entrar en el otoño, las lecturas se vuelven más directas y, a veces, dolorosas. A veces, podemos preguntarnos por qué la Iglesia incluye estas lecturas en nuestra liturgia. Sin embargo, están allí y tenemos que creer con propósito: para ayudarnos a crecer como seres humanos en nuestra fe.

Y así, esta semana, las lecturas tratan sobre la incompreensión.

La primera lectura, al estilo del Antiguo Testamento, describe implacablemente a los malvados que se unen para dañar al Justo.

La lectura del Evangelio es más suave, pero podría decirse que no es menos decepcionante: Al final del día, Jesús, caminando de regreso a Cafarnaúm, les intima a sus apóstoles que esto es exactamente lo que le iba a pasar, que sería arrestado por hombres, sentenciado y condenado a muerte (pero que al tercer día resucitaría).

Y, sin embargo, los apóstoles no parecen apreciarlo que les estuvo disciendo. En cambio, parecen haber estado discutiendo entre ellos sobre quién de ellos sería el más importante de todos.

¿Cuántas veces hemos intentado decirles a otros, incluso a nuestros seres queridos, las cosas que nos pesan en el corazón, y no hemos encontrado ... nada en respuesta? Ni siquiera es que sean "malas personas", es solo que no lo entienden, que están envueltos con sus preocupaciones.

Jesús aligera el ambiente, presentando a un niño ante ellos y les dice que el niño es más que ellos. Y es probable que ellos tampoco lo entendieran.

Sin embargo, en esto hay la buena noticia de que Dios realmente nos ama a todos y que nuestra búsqueda de "importancia" en realidad no le importa a Dios.

Pero tal vez queramos tomarnos un tiempo esta semana para escuchar más atentamente a Dios y a las personas que nos rodean. Porque si no lo hacemos, podemos oírganos las cosas a veces bien importantes que debemos escuchar.

Encounter Jesus at the Mass

Bishop Barron's new 6 Episode Video Series will take us on a journey through the Mass.

These are the titles:

- A Privileged Encounter
- Called out of the World
- God Speaks our Story
- Responding to God
- Preparing for Sacrifice
- The Real Presence Creates Communion

One of the most basic truths about the Mass is that it is an encounter with Jesus Christ. Christianity is not a philosophy or a set of ideas, but rather a relationship with the person of Christ. In the Mass, in a privileged way, we meet him, listen to him, respond to him, commune with him.
